

MY HERO

My hero
He cannot fly
He does not leap over tall buildings
Nor travel at lightning speeds
He has no “super powers”
But he does fight merciless enemies everyday
He defends those who cannot defend themselves
Protects the innocent and saves lives
He does not have a secret lair ....
He is constantly watching his back
He cannot stop a bullet ...
But his flesh will take one easily
He has no secret identity ....
But few know his family’s sacrifice
My Hero does not wear a cape
He wears combat boots.

Thanks to Military Mom for letting me reproduce her poem to her son. She took the picture of his boots on the day he deployed. Please visit her website at <http://militarymomathome.blogspot.com/>.

Home Week Volunteers

Ken Brown

John McKechnie

Geoff Cooke

John Collins

Fraser Summers

Archie Shelton

Karen Blanchard

Ted Griffin

Mike Fitzpatrick

Thom Stewart

Butch Andrews

Sue Fitzpatrick

Trevor Nelson

Mike Arnold

Mary Bradley

Bonnie Sharpe

Betty West

Bettie MacDonald

Linda Connor

The Home Week photos were courtesy of Chris Jefferies. I apologize to any of the Home Week volunteers who's picture may have been missed. It was a very hectic morning. Thank you to Ken Brown and all his volunteers.

Doug Smith - 2007 Home Week Chair

2007 Home Week Parade

2007 Home Week Chair
Doug Smith
with Karen Blanchard

Parade chairs
Angela Burke
and Peter Teitze

Joe Dickson
with Rogers
Cable
employee

Home Week Parade

From left: Diane Howarth - F1 Zone Commander Ladies Auxiliary, Emma Smith - F1 Deputy Zone Commander & President Br 322 Ladies Auxiliary, Jane Brown, Diane Gear, Shirly Allems and Janet Kaminsky.

Veteran Oscar Beaulieu with Patches.

Carol Collins and her grand children enjoy the parade